Has Decided Views.

President Taft has, in the past, expressed some decided views about geographical limitations in appointments to that body. He has taken the position that geographical consideration should figure only when all other things were equal. This is his present attitude as described by those in a position to know.

Looked at from the geographical from the first circuit, and Vermont; the third circuit, comprising Pennsylvania, New Jorsey, and Delaware, and the fourth circuit, comprising Maryland, Virginia, the Carolinas and west Virginia.

Both Justices Moody and Holmes are from the first circuit, and Justices Day and Harlan from the some inequalities in representation in the Supreme Court. Justice Peckham's death leaves three of the judicial circuits unrepresentation in the Supreme Court. Justice Peckham's death leaves three of the judicial circuits unrepresented on the Supreme Court. Justice Peckham's death leaves on court of the Supreme Court. Justice Peckham's death leaves on court. Just

Both Justices Moody and Holmes are from the first circuit, and Justices Day and Harlan from the sixth, in which Justice Fuller is from the seventh cir-cuit, Justice Brewer from the eighth, and Justice McKenna from the ninth. Solicitor-General Bowers is general-by given second place in the specula-tion. Many other names are mentioned in connection with the vacancies, but these two, in the order named, are the ones most prominently mentioned in the gossip in well-informed circles.
